

PRAGUE 100

EVENT RULES & A WORD FROM THE ORGANIZER

Prague 100 is an extreme long-distance running and walking event (hereinafter also the “Race”), characterized by a high level of physical and psychological difficulty. The Race takes place in winter, potentially in severe weather conditions. The Organizer expressly emphasizes the extreme difficulty of this long-distance event and urges all potential participants to carefully assess their abilities, resources and level of training.

Warning about extreme risks: Dangerous, exposed or technically challenging places (ice, rocks, steep drops, movement in darkness) are a normal part of Prague 100 routes. By registering and starting, participants confirm that they are fully aware of these risks, acknowledge them, and are required to adapt their pace and conduct accordingly.

Information about the event is available at dalkoveepochody.cz and on the Prague 100 Facebook page.

GENERAL RACE RULES

1.0 Participant (also referred to as a Competitor)

Only persons over 15 years of age may enter the Race on Route A. Anyone under 18 must submit written consent from a legal guardian to the Organizer no later than at accreditation. Previous experience on routes of 80 km or more is also strongly recommended for Route A.

2.0 Participant Obligations

2.1. A Participant must always provide first aid to another injured competitor, and also to any other person encountered who is experiencing a medical emergency.

2.2. A Competitor must always observe the principles of Fair Play (honesty, consideration, respect for nature, etc.).

2.3. A competitor may start only if properly registered and compliant with the Organizer’s instructions.

2.4. A competitor must not be under the influence of intoxicating substances, medication or other substances that prevent or impair sporting performance.

2.5. A competitor is required to make an honest assessment of their current state of health.

2.6. A competitor must comply with the specified requirements concerning mandatory and recommended equipment.

3.0 Participant’s Acknowledgement of Risk and Liability

3.1. Agreement to the event rules and the conditions for processing personal data (GDPR) is given online as part of the registration form. Physically starting and setting out on the route constitutes confirmation of this online agreement. No paper signature is required at the start.

3.2. By starting, each participant declares that they take part entirely at their own peril, personal risk and responsibility. The Organizer is not liable for injury, damage to health or property caused by participants to themselves or others, or resulting from failure to comply with the Race rules, organizers’ instructions or road traffic regulations.

4.0 The Race and Timing

4.1. The start and finish locations are generally announced by the Organizer within the three months before the event. The exact route is published only during the week before the Race.

4.2. The Race uses chip timing and, for safety and tracking purposes, GPS trackers provided by Stopnito. Competitors must attach the tracking device visibly. Participants must return both the chip and tracker to the Organizer at the finish. If a competitor withdraws early, they must hand the devices in at the nearest staffed checkpoint or deliver them to the Organizer without delay. The fee for failure to return or loss of a Stopnito tracker is CZK 2,000. All chip management is handled exclusively by the Organizer.

5.0 Transport of Luggage

5.1. The Organizer may offer transport of luggage from the start area to the finish. Luggage transport is arranged exclusively on the basis of an oral agreement between the Organizer and the participant.

5.2. The Organizer reserves the right to refuse luggage that is not closed or is visibly damaged. Valuables and items unrelated to the Race will not be transported.

6.0 Registration

Registration is exclusively online through the long-distance walking event timing service, where the registration form is available. On-site registration is possible only in exceptional cases agreed in advance.

7.0 Entry Fee

7.1. The Race is organized by a registered association (KČT, LOKO Teplice branch), not by a commercial, for-profit entity. Entry fees collected are used solely to cover the direct costs of operating, preparing and providing logistics for the event.

7.2. The entry fee includes, in particular, loan of a timing chip and tracker, the itinerary, refreshments at stations, and the option of overnight accommodation at the finish.

7.3. Cancellation policy: the entry fee is non-refundable if the participant does not take part. Under Section 1837(j) of the Civil Code, the participant has no right to withdraw from the contract and receive a refund within the statutory 14-day period, as this is a contract for leisure activities to be provided on a specified date.

7.4. The entry fee may be transferred online to another person within the period announced by the Organizer. Payment of the entry fee on the day of the Race is possible only in exceptional cases agreed in advance.

8.0 Personal Data Protection (GDPR)

8.1. By giving online consent during registration, the participant consents to the processing of personal data. The data controller is the Race Organizer (KČT, LOKO Teplice branch). Participants are informed of their statutory rights to access and correct their data.

8.2. The data processed includes, in particular: first name, surname, date of birth, sex, address, club, email address, payment details, results and photographs.

8.3. The following will be published in the results: participant's first and last name, race number, finish time, year of birth and placing.
